Overall this book is excellent - the pictures, the content, the excitement that jumps off of every page. One of our favorite things about this book is how it has inspired questions and discussions between our children and my wife and I about various subjects. We love seeing our kids learning about not only new things but also things that really fascinate them and excite them about life. With that said we also have come across subjects that have not been age-appropriate and maybe not at all appropriate for certain households. There was a section about necromancy, ouija boards, haunted houses, palm reading, tarot cards, and the likes. There also have been other sections where we had to use the power of distraction or skim over some things for the kids. Not sure why or how these random subjects happened to find themselves in this book but they are there. Most of the book is great and has interesting content about animals, nature, senses, etc. I'm just writing this review to give other parents a heads up about this too.

Beautiful New Book! I opened it and had that new book sound. The colors inside are bright and the kids will love this. Short facts so the kids won't be bored. My grand kids will love this! Pictures and graphics are really great, I can't say enough about this book.

Perfect for an 8-year-old boy who loves learning interesting facts. Any child who loves Guinness books will love this, too.

I also got this for my grandson who is autistic, he is a very intelligent boy and having a book full of facts he may already know and if not he will know very soon, my grandson needs something to challenge his mind all the time, he is so intelligent and I really hope this book will keep his active brain occupied with some very interesting facts

Our 7-year old had been asking us "Who's the tallest person in the world?", "What dog is the largest?" etc., so for his birthday we bought him this book and the Guinness book of World Records. Both books were an absolute hit! He started reading them at the party and these two books along with a "Laugh out Loud" jokes book will keep him busy until school starts.

My son absolutely loves this book. It is filled with so many facts and is very informational. I have even picked up the book and read some cool things! The pictures are vibrant and very eye catching and it really is hard to put the book down when you pick it up. The book itself is nice quality. It has a lot of pages and is bound nicely; guaranteed to last a long time. I would definitely recommend this to anyone who has kids with inquiring minds.

I started buying the series of these books for my nephew several years ago. They are great for sharing knowledge with friends and family. he probably needed help in reading them, but they've satisfied his learning appetite. I've purchased the "Why, what, who, and where and how" of them. These are like a "trivia quiz" for them. Sometimes makes them smarter than their parents, too.

My 8 year old loves this book. It is full of random facts with great images. He has thanked us for it several times (This is uncommon, lol!) Easy enough for him to read to his sister, who is 5 and enjoys looking at the pictures. Great for the child who love to learn, and also is constantly asking questions - what is the fastest train? Where is the hottest place on earth? How long is an anaconda? The list goes on...
