PopOut was founded in 1993. Having spotted a need to cure what he calls 'Map Stress Syndrome' after watching numerous tourists around the City of Bath, England, battling with over-sized maps, founder Derek Dacey recalled the invaluable miniature charts he used during his days as a commercial pilot. Aiming to bring this level of usability to the city map market, a small team of designers was recruited to realize what would soon become the PopOut. 1993 saw the release of the first ever PopOut Map Bath, which was sold in the gift and souvenir trade across the city. Hot on the heels of this initial success, a research trip to the USA culminated in a redesigned layout, combining strong photo images, high quality printing and laminated covers – standards which are still adhered to today. That research trip also saw the birth of the first US destinations covered in the PopOut range – Boston, NYC, Philadelphia and Washington DC. Launched in the new style in the US they enjoyed instant success in the gift and souvenir trade.

An ingenious map concept. An easy to read map nicely showing all the prime tourist highlights, view points, parks, etc. It's very legible considering how much needs to be crammed into a small space. The outer cover is fairly durable laminated cardstock that will slip into a pocket easily. As some have noted the map that pops out is a bit delicate and won't take rough handling. I'd give it a 5 star review except for the fact that the scale is presented as a ratio (1:13,000) rather than a linear scale in miles or kilometers. Not very handy when you're trying to figure out walking distances.

I loved this map, until I was actually in Edinburgh and the thing fell apart at all of the folding seams. The seams are perforated, which is great for tearing out sheets, but lousy for holding a folding pop out map together.

Very small

This was an amazing map to have. It had clear indications of which streets in the city were intersections with bridges and which went under the overpasses (important to know when walking through Edinburgh!) it is small enough to fit in a back pocket, purse, or backpack. Great value for the price!

Perfect size, has all you need to enjoy Edinburgh (say it that way!). I used it, son used it, Terry my friend borrowed it and loved it. I highly recommend this adorable map.

Helpful

This map is VERY small. The positive is that it has a list of places of interest on the back that you can consult.

This was a little smaller than I expected and harder to refold (un-popout). But it was easy to read, it even had our hotel labeled and it fits easily in the pocket. Handy.
