Ms. Golden writes in an easy flowing style that grabs you within the first pages and doesn't let you go. Her writing continued to do this in the third installment 'The Cats That Told a Fortune'. I found myself transported into the story, spending the day immersed in this book. Her attention to detail of place and time allow the reader to 'live' the story along with the main characters. The plot is woven in such a way to emphasize the mystery as well as the infamous cats who steal your heart. A wonderful cozy read that kept me guessing as to who the villain was right until the end. I highly recommend this wonderful cozy mystery. I do suggest you start with the first book so as not to miss out on any part of Katherine and the cats' journey. This is one author to watch as she only gets better with each book. I can't wait for the next book to be available.

I have always loved mystery stories and books about cats. This series combines them both in a really good way. This is the third book in Ms. Golden's series about 5 cats who live in a pink mansion in Erie, Indiana with their human who has inherited the mansion along with a sizeable fortune. In the first book, Katz (who already has three Siamese cats) learns of her inheritance and that to keep it she must live in the mansion for a year and also take care of the cat that belonged to her aunt. By the time I finished reading the first book, I was hooked on the series. I have just finished this book and am looking forward to the next four! If you like cats and mysteries, give this series a try.

People a very good read. Katz has her computer class room all set up, now all she has to do is choose the four students with one extra, in case one cannot attend. So, she lets her cats pick out five cards with the names of the candidates, out of this bowl where she placed them. Michelle, who works at the library, Glen Frye-a lover, Leslie, Waynes girlfriend, and Barbie Saunders, the only daughter of Erie's crime boss,who's attitude was so gross that Katz through her out of the class. Stacy Grimes is the replacement, a widowed mother. Will there be trouble from the crime boss?There is a serial killer in town who targets young girls with long hair parted down the middle. Stacy is one of the victims,she is in a comma at the hospital.Katz holds a Halloween party with magic tricks and fortune tellers. When the party is over, Katz discovers that Iris, her seal point cat is missing. She remembers that Barbie had asked if the cat was worth a lot of money and would she sell her?People this is a real page turner, who is the serial killer and who stole Iris?

Each time I read this I fall more in love. The cats are absolutely entertaining and Katz is too.

Colleen, her best friend is amazing and really needs to move closer. I definitely recommend this series.

This is a great cozy mystery series. I look forward to many more chapters in the life of Katz, all of her friends, and her charming fur-babies. Each book in the series can stand alone, but is even better when read in order, so you can see the whole picture.

Once again Ms. Golden had written another great book about the adventures of Katz and her 4 cats. A cat owner my self I can't get enough of her books!! Can't wait to read the next book!

I really enjoyed the book, only wish I had known that there were two predecessors. That was my own fault and I'll order the other two books as well, so I can read up how the cat family ended up in the mansion. However I found the book could have been flashed out a bit more with details. The book appears to be a good size book with plenty of pages but the pages are filled with large print and not fully used. I had expected more in that aspect. Therefore it was disappointing that in one short day I finished the story. The story line was cute and of course as a life long owner and lover of Siamese cats it was right along my alley.

Another cute little mystery featuring Kat and her cats. A fun read to relax with.
